

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A final rule adding certain industry sectors to the current list of facilities required to report under section 313 of the Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act of 1986 (EPCRA), also known as the Toxics Release Inventory (TRI) was published on May 1, 1997 (62 FR 23833) (FRL-5578-3). This action added certain facilities in the following seven industry groups: Metal Mining (SIC code 10); Coal Mining (SIC code 12); Electric Utilities (SIC codes 4911, 4931, 4939 each limited to facilities which combust coal and/or oil for purposes of generating power for distribution); Commercial Hazardous Waste Treatment (SIC code 4953); Chemicals and Allied Products-Wholesale (SIC code 5169); Petroleum Bulk Terminals and Plants (SIC code 5171); and Solvent Recovery Services (SIC code 7389). EPA has prepared guidance documents for each of these industry groups to assist them with determining their compliance requirements for activities beginning on January 1, 1998.

These documents were made available in draft form for public review and comment through a notice in the Federal Register (62 FR 37053) (FRL-5727-6). Several comments were received and many of the issues raised have been addressed in the documents being made available today. EPA also intends to issue an addendum to accompany these documents which will address many of the issues raised during the recent training sessions offered to the new industry groups along with some of the issues raised during the comment period which were not incorporated in the body of the documents themselves.

In addition, the 1997 version of the "EPCRA Section 313 Questions and Answers" document updates and significantly expands the 1990 version of the document. This updated document addresses various EPCRA section 313 interpretive guidance questions on various topics such as threshold determinations, waste management calculations and the Form A. In addition, the Questions and Answers document addresses questions on the revised interpretation of the term "otherwise use" and recent toxic chemical listing modifications. To make the document more user friendly, the Agency has added a glossary of relevant terms and an expanded key word index.
